If an employee makes such a complaint initially to EDC, EDC will provide the employee notice of applicable grievance rights, and 2) refer an SHRA or EHRA Non-Faculty employee to HR for completion of a grievance form. If a grievance is filed, an allegation of discrimination, harassment or retaliation will be referred to EDC for an investigation. The investigation will be concluded in no more than forty-five (45) calendar days. The period of investigation is part of the overall grievance timeframe as outlined in the SHRA Grievance and Appeal Policy. EDC will notify the complainant, the respondent and HR

All persons interviewed or otherwise contacted in an investigation will be informed that retaliation against anyone who opposes, complains of, or participates in an investigation of harassment or discrimination is prohibited. All employees have a duty to cooperate fully in an investigation conducted pursuant to this policy, to provide investigators complete and accurate information requested or otherwise relevant to the inquiry, and to maintain confidentiality of the investigation. Any breach of this policy shall be treated as misconduct subject to disciplinary action, up to and including dismissal.

4. The totality of the circumstances and facts will be reviewed to determine whether the alleged conduct constitutes workplace harassment and/or other forms of discrimination. Within sixty (60) calendar days of EDC’s receipt of the written complaint, the University will provide a written response to the complainant and the respondent based on the findings of the investigation. The written response will include the determination of what action, if any, will be taken as a result of the written complaint. This response will, however, be consistent with the confidentiality provisions of the State Human Resources Act and, if applicable, the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 (FERPA). If the employee is not satisfied with the University’s response following completion of an investigation, the employee may request a hearing in accordance with applicable University grievance policies and procedures.

5. Disciplinary and/or remedial action in accordance with University policies shall be taken and documented by the appropriate supervisor in consultation with HR and the appropriate Vice Chancellor when warranted. Employees who are disciplined may pursue their grievance rights in accordance with applicable policies.

Nothing herein shall constitute a waiver, or require a waiver, of the right of a complainant alleging discrimination or harassment on the basis of membership in a class protected by Title VII of the Civil Rights Act to file a simultaneous complaint under Title VII with the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC).
