Military Call to Service

Policy 407

1 Purpose

Pursuant to the provisions of North Carolina’s General Statutes (SL 2005-445; 2003-300; 2017-155) and the University of North Carolina System Policy Manual (700.7.1(R)), the following policy provides guidelines for all Appalachian State University (Appalachian) constituents when Appalachian students who are admitted and enrolled, are required to participate in active military service.

2 Scope

This policy applies to active military service members and to family members of individuals called to active service. For the purpose of this policy, Appalachian students impacted by this policy are referred to as service members, or, in the case of family members, military affiliated students.

3 Definitions

3.1 Active military service - any circumstance, other than pre-planned training exercises, requiring a service member to report for duty. Active military service (duty) may include deployment abroad, deployment stateside, activation within the state, and/or response to a national emergency.

3.2 Admitted and enrolled - refers to any currently enrolled student or a student who has been offered admission to Appalachian, who has accepted the offer of admission, and has begun enrollment steps.

3.3 Appalachian student - any student who is admitted and enrolled at Appalachian State University.

3.4 Feasible - for the purpose of this policy, feasibility refers to both the convenience and probability relative to providing accommodations. For example, it may not be feasible to expect laboratories (or other hands-on courses) to be converted to an online modality.

3.5 Military affiliated student – any person who is the dependent child (biological, adoptive, or step) or spouse of a service member.

3.6 Service member - any person who is contractually obligated to a component of the United States Armed Forces. This contractual obligation may be for service in an active duty component or in a reserve component (including the national guard).

3.7 United States Armed Forces - represent the military forces of the United States of America. There are six branches: Army, Navy, Air Force, Space Force, Marines, and Coast Guard, and each branch has both active duty (full time obligation) and reserve (part time obligation) components.

When requesting accommodations listed above, the service member/military affiliated student must:

4.6 Timing of Service Obligation

4.6.1 Before the term:

4.6.1.1 In the event a service member or military affiliated student shall miss the beginning of a term, the student shall be given the opportunity to make up missed work and shall be provided with any course materials they miss due to their service obligation.
4.6.1.2 In the event service members/military affiliated students are eligible to engage in their coursework in alternative modalities, the service member/military affiliated student and their faculty shall discuss options for alternative course delivery.
4.6.1.3 In the event the service member/military affiliated student, in conjunction with their faculty, determines they will be unable to catch up on missed course work, the student shall be granted the option of dropping the course(s) without penalty.

4.6.2 During the Term:

4.6.2.1 When service members are called for active military service during a term, the student (service member/military affiliated student) has three options:

   Option 1: Continue working on coursework through alternative modalities. The student may still need modified due dates and/or other accommodations.
   Option 2: Complete the course early or take an incomplete. The service member and their faculty are responsible for determining completion timelines, assignment due dates, and when the course is to be completed.
   Option 3: Drop the course (or courses). If the student, and their faculty, determine that completing the course is not in the student's best interests, individual courses, or all courses may be dropped.

Decisions regarding which option is most appropriate, must be decided in conjunction with the faculty member teaching the course, and Student Veteran Services.

4.6.3 At the end of the term:

4.6.3.1 If a service member is called for active military service at the conclusion of the term (within one week of the last day of exams), every effort should be made to permit the service member/military affiliated student to complete their courses in advance of their departure. If time constraints prohibit early completion of the courses, a grade of incomplete shall automatically be granted to the student. If the student is unable to complete the courses, a retroactive withdrawal may be requested for the term.
